The Re-Nomination of Judge Friesner.

Judge Friesner was unanimously re-nominated by acclamation at the Convention in Lancaster, on Tuesday. The Secretary's report, and a synopsis of the very able speeches on the occasion will be published next week.

Hocking county is proud of the honor conferred on her favorite son, and tenders thanks to the other counties, not only for the compliment to our candidate, but for the courtesy and attention shown to the Hocking Delegation.

Our county was represented by all the delegates chosen, except one in Benton and two in Salt-creek, and these delegates sent proxies.

Besides the regular delegates, about fifty Democrats also attended the Convention, as alternates. The delegates and alternates were gold badge inscribed, "For Judge Hon. John S. Friesner," commanding the attention and receiving the hearty admiration of the entire Convention. Chairman Joe Huffman asked that he might be made a Hocking Alternate, so as to get a badge. He was supplied with a badge and became it handsomely.

The Convention was a very happy political meeting, and the universal expression of good wishes and good will to Judge Friesner and Hocking county makes us prouder than ever of "Little Hocking" and her "Big Men."

The National Educational Bill.

The Senate of the United States has passed the educational bill, and the House will probably pass it also.

The bill as passed by the Senate appropriates $77,000,000.00 to be distributed through the various States, according to illiteracy, the ability of persons above the age of ten years to write, being made the standard of distribution, and the last census the means of arriving at this estimate. According to this authority there were 6,235,958 persons above the age of ten years in the country in the year 1880 unable to write.

The illiterate basis gives Georgia the largest sum, over five millions. Ohio's share will be about one and half a millions.

The Portsmouth Times has begun the publication of a Daily. The "Times Daily" is not in size an overgrown butterweed, but a plant of moderate proportions, of wholesome vigor, and most excellent and enduring principles. It will afford brother Cooper an opportunity to work off his crowding versatility and enable him to keep his paper abreast with the live issues of the day and the increasing business of the Times. We hope the Daily will receive the very generous support its good qualities and the enterprise of its proprietor merits.

The Columbus Sunday Herald says: "Mr. Ferd Rempel, of Logan, one of the most Penitentiary Board, dropped in at the Park yesterday, to have a talk with Beery, and perhaps give him a pointer or two on the best men for different positions."

Mr. Peetery will find that Col. Rempel, whose appointment was objected to on political grounds, is one of the most prudent advisers of the Board, and that the persons whom he recommends are worthy of the appointments asked.

Jackson county is becoming a bloody stain on the fair face of Ohio. The record of crime in this saintly Republican stronghold is more horrible than any locality on this continent. Last week her defaulting Treasurer who plundered the county treasury and fled with a strumpet, was captured at Detroit and brought home for trial.

On last Thursday another man was murdered. Particularly elsewhere. Why not have a Congressional Outrage Committee appointed for Jackson county.

Mr. James Brown, of our city, says that the Sentinel printed tickets for Straitsville, and the tickets were not legal. Mr. James Brown should advise himself before making statements that are not true, unless he is ambitious to become a senseless prevaricator. The Sentinel printed no tickets for Straitsville, and the truth wrestling James is advised to make his subsequent statements correspond with the facts.

THE CANAL PRESERVED

The Appropriation Secured.

Testimonial to Col. Weldy.

After one of the most persistent fights ever made in the Legislature, the appropriation for the repair of the Hocking canal was finally secured.

The appropriation was twice defeated, once in the House and once in the Senate, but Col. Weldy, who championed the appropriation, worked faithfully and untiringly for the appropriation, and finally came out victorious. The credit of winning the hardest fought issue in the last Legislature is due to Col. Weldy, and to my men who to-day are afforded work and thence the means of keeping their families, can thank their Representative, remembering, but for his persistent effort, their families would suffer for the necessities of life which the pay for the labor they now have on the canal helps to supply.

On last Monday evening the friends of Col. Weldy, and those interested in the preservation of the canal, tendered a reception to our Representative on his return home. A meeting was called in the Auditor's office. Judge Arker presided, and in behalf of those interested in the preservation of the canal, presented to Col. Weldy a handsome gold headed cane, properly inscribed in token of appreciation. Col. Weldy replied in an able speech, reciting the features of the canal fight, and thanked his friends for this public expression of approval of his conduct.

The affair was a very pleasant feature of Logan customs. The Representative of the town and county and State had distinguished himself and had merited the approbation of the public. It was pertinent and proper that the testimonial should be given.

The Sentinel was for the canal. It was especially for the appropriation. We have every reason to believe that John McBride will soon have enough water in the canal to drown all differences, and that we can all unite heartily on the proposition that Logan is a live town and that the absence of loafers on our streets, and the employment of our hundreds of industrious men in the State service is due and owing to the able and persistent efforts of the Representative of this county. Let us have peace, abundant work and good pay for men who want to work and want to be peaceable.

Circuit Court Convention.

We suggest to our brethren that Logan is the most accessible city in the District for holding the Democratic Circuit Court Convention. Our hotel accommodations are ample, our people are hospitable, our town is Democratic.

We invite the Convention to Logan, promising a hearty hospitality and a Democratic reception. What say you, gentlemen, to the "pledging?"

The new Hotel Martin was opened for the public on last Monday. It is one of the most commodious and elegant hotels in the state and is a building Lancaster has the just reason to be proud of. The proprietor, Mr. Stockton, is a gentleman who understands his business, and spreads a table that will delight the hungry and please the taste of the most fastidious epicure. Mr. Stockton kindly offered the Hocking Delegation to the Judicial Convention the reading room for headquarters, for which courtesy he was voted the thanks of the Convention.

When our readers visit Lancaster we recommend them to stop at the Martin, assuring them of reasonable bills, first class accommodation, and polite attention.

The Legislature adjourned on last Monday, after a session of 99 days, having passed 472 laws, and joint resolutions. Many of the laws passed are of great importance, and as soon as they are printed, will be published in the Sentinel.

The Legislature has made a good record and will be sustained by the Democracy of the State. Philadelphia refuses to recognize the terms of the world in the domain of medicine. No sufficient reason is given for their reflection upon the sex. They have the brains, courage and application necessary to master the theoretical part, and why not permit the practice? There are thousands of male noddies now hanging on the profession who deal out pills according to a printed program and make a comfortable living, who never cured a sick headache or mitigated the spasms of a whooping cough. Give the girls a chance, it will not increase the death rate.

The Governor has appointed Senator Welsh, of Athens, as Trustee of the Ohio University, at Athens. The appointment is a good one, and Senator Welsh will do credit to the position.

The Converse Wool Tariff Bill.

The vote on the bill of Mr. Converse restoring the duties on the wool to what they were before the Republican Congress reduced them, stood 118 yeas to 126 nays. Twelve New England Republicans voted against the bill, and the Philadelphia Press commented: "The motion was defeated by the Republican votes from the New England States, which were cast in support of the interests of the woolen manufacturers." The woolen manufacturers through their representatives in Congress have played it pretty fine on the tariff question. In the conference bill of the last Congress they managed to secure a reduction of duties on raw wool and an increase on woolen manufacturers. If there is no article of absolute necessity in manufacturing in our northern climate it is cheap woolens, such as blankets, clothing, underwear, etc., and we hope when the subject of tariff reform is taken up in earnest by a Democratic Congress, those New England monopolists will be attended to. They don't believe in protection for wool growers, as evidenced by the vote on the Converse bill, but will take all the protection subsidy they can get on the woolen manufacturers.

The Laurel Township Horse Thief Captured.

Prompt and Effective Work of Sheriff McCarthy.

Last week we announced the stealing of a horse from Squire Kelch of Laurel.

The matter was placed in the hands of Sheriff McCarthy, who at once got a picture of the suspected thief, had the photograph duplicated and sent copies all over the State, and the authorities put upon their guard.

This horse was stolen at night, and before the thief got to Lancaster a copy of his photograph was in the hands of the police. He hastened away and got to Hookers Station where tried to sell the horse. Failing to sell the horse, and fearful of the officers, he left the animal and took the train. His travels were somewhat devious, but finally he landed in Cincinnati. He had not been in the city an hour until he was picked up. Sheriff McCarthy was notified of his arrest and left on last Monday for Cincinnati to get him and bring him back to Logan to jail.

The thief is a young man named Luker who was raised by Squire Kelch. He had been hanging around the neighborhood for a week or more, sharing his foster father's hospitality, and receiving kind attention from the neighbors. When he concluded to leave, Mr. Kelch's son offered to take him to the railroad. This the young man declined, and started on foot. Instead of taking the train he returned that night, stole the horse, and meets the Penitentiary staring him in the face.

The way of the transgressor is hard, and this young man blights his life by a crime that brings sorrow to the good old man that raised him and to kind neighbors and friends who hoped that his life might be useful and honorable.

The sheriff returned with his prisoner Tuesday evening. The Cincinnati Enquirer of Monday has the following notice of Luker's arrest:

"Henry Luker, a blacksmith from Columbus, Ohio, was a prisoner at Third-Street Station yesterday under circumstances rather peculiar. Luker and his wife came to the city on the Cleveland, Columbus, Cincinnati and Indianapolis train, arriving at 5:42 yesterday morning. On the way she slipped a note to the conductor, which read as follows:

"Conductor: Have this man arrested when he reaches Cincinnati for horse stealing in Hocking County, Ohio."

The conductor on this information telegraphed ahead, and Trainmaster Peck took the dispatch to Patrol House No. 4. When the train reached the Eighth-street crossing, Officers McAuley and Lippen, in citizens attire, boarded it and arrested Luker and took him to the Station in the wagon, which was waiting near by. A talk with a woman developed that her reason for causing her husband's arrest was to keep him from deserting her. He had left her three times since their marriage in Detroit four years ago, and his actions made her think he was about to skip out again. She said that Luker had stolen a horse from George T. Kelch at Gibbonsville, Hocking County, Ohio, recently and that a reward was offered for his apprehension. Luker had been living in Columbus, but decided to come to Cincinnati, thinking he might get work here. At Mansfield Mrs. Luker says her husband's actions were such that she was satisfied he wanted to abandon her again. She is very much in love with her husband, and now seems to be sorry for giving him away. Colonel Reilly could not communicate with Gibbonsville by telegraph, but last night he dispatched for information regarding Luker to the Sheriff at Logan, in the same county. Luker says the charge of horse-stealing is untrue, and that Kelch raised him until he was seventeen years old. Mrs. Luker put up at a boarding house near the station house. To day her husband will probably be released, as Colonel Reilly thinks it is very doubtful if he is wanted anywhere.

JACKSON COUNTY AGAIN TO THE FRONT.

Phillip Hunter Shot and Killed by a Revolver in the Hands of Vandora Cassel.

Wellston Argus, April 14th.] Last Thursday evening a dance was given at the house of William Cassel, a colored man, a short distance this side of Berlin, at which a terrible tragedy took place. The crowd was composed principally of colored men who reside in that settlement. It was a "loud" crowd, and as is usual in such cases, the time was a "loud" one.

Along about eleven o'clock at night a disturbance was raised between some of the parties present over a white woman named Murray, who bears rather an unsavory reputation. They adjourned to the yard, where a general free fight took place. A man named Jordan Ford came out of the house with a razor in his hand, when Grant Watkins espied him and ran to Vandora Cassel and tried to take a revolver belonging to him (Watkins) from Cassel, in order to shoot Ford. In the tussle the revolver was discharged.

Phillip Hunter, who was in the crowd, remarked that a man who would fire a revolver off in a crowd in that manner was no man at all, at the same time taking out a large flask filled with whisky remarked that that was the kind of a revolver to shoot with. Cassel ran up to him and taking aim over another man's shoulder, fired twice at Hunter, the first ball taking effect in the right side and the second in the left thigh. Hunter then fell and upon being taken into the house, was not allowed to be placed upon a bed. He was taken to the house of Ward Thompson, where he died Saturday forenoon.

Esq. Bingham, of this place, issued a warrant for the arrest of Cassel and Watkins Friday. Watkins was arrested and had a preliminary hearing Wednesday, was bound over in the sum of $2000, and in default of bail was taken to jail. Cassel, up to this time has not been arrested.

Hunter, the deceased, was a very important witness against the murderer, Johnston, who is now in jail for killing Ben McCloud some weeks ago.

Tribute to the Sisters of Charity.

In the trial last week of William Blackley for murder, his two children, aged eleven and thirteen, were introduced as witnesses for the defense, and it appeared by their testimony that they had been for several years in St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum. It gave Col. Lyman Jackson, Attorney for the State, occasion to pay the following handsome compliment to the Sisters of Charity: "By the mercy of God these children had been taught in another home. They had been in hands and under teaching that learned them truth, honesty and piety."

Some time in the future some ladies in their shroud when they die, may call on you for what ever you may be willing to give, to support such waifs as these. They will come to you without a name, and go without acquaintance. They will have no other "Sister," and you will know them by no other. They are dead to this world, except to care for the unfortunate. In that they know no race, no creed, and shrink from no suffering nor danger. Whether Russian or Turk in Crimea, whether Arab or French in Algeria, whether Frank or German in Lorraine, whether Rebel or F. d'eral in our war, their gentle voices and hands were present to soothe and comfort sick and wounded soldiers. When the yellow fever raged at Memphis and New Orleans, when the cholera swept through the northern cities, wherever was suffering wherever was an epidemic, they came to nurse, and stayed with a fortitude that the bravest battalions never knew. And when they came to ask your assistance to assist them, where their piety has taught these children lessons of truth and right, that has made them more powerful here in the vindication of law than all the strong men defending.

The mob might rage and murder, witnesses might be corrupted or intimidated, but the little boy and girl followed the teachings of the kind Sisters, and told the truth intelligently, while it was convulsing their father."
